

CHOATE USA

The Professional Site Services Company

COMMERCIAL

RESIDENTIAL

Ebbingei Elaeagnus

7-10

- Category: Shrubs
- Type: Broadleaf Evergreen
- Exposure: Full Sun / Part Shade
- Foliage: Green / Silver
- Form: Spreading
- Maximum Growth: Approx. 10'h x 10'w
- Zones: 7 to 10
- Drought Tolerance: High
- Scientific Name: Elaeagnus pungens 'Ebbingei'
- Usage: Screen, Foundation, Foreground, Mass

Introduction

Elaeagnus is an evergreen with leathery leaves that are glossy dark green on upper sides then silvery beneath. Elaeagnus is known for its toughness, it can survive and thrive in places many shrubs cannot. Elaeagnus 'ebbingei' has more upright growth and has no thorns on the branches.

Use and Management

This rapidly growing, very large, spreading, evergreen shrub thrives in full sun to partial shade, in hot, windy locations, and is highly salt tolerant. It is especially effective as a hedge but requires frequent pruning because of its rampant growth. It can be pruned into formal shapes but is best used along highways and in other large, open spaces because of the sprawling habit of growth. It is often seen in mass plantings.

Additional Characteristics

- Moderate maintenance
- Dense, spreading growth habit
- Glossy Green leaves with silvery under sides
- No significant fall color
- Fine texture
- Fast growth
- Occasionally wet; alkaline; clay; sand; acidic soils

Planting

- Typically planted in 1 gal, 3 gal or 5 gal containers.

1-800-606-0755

www.CHOATEUSA.com